The Gaping Wound Notes by Randy Mauags

Joel 2:12 ¶ Therefore also now, saith the LORD, turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning: 13 And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the LORD your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil.

BP's deep Water Horizon leak

The gaping wound: search 'BP and gasping wound'---100s of articles refer now to the Gulf of Mexico Horizon Deep Water disaster as a "gaping wound."

Leakage: The 5000-barrel figure translates into 21,0000 gallons per day, current estimates: 95,000 bbl/day or 4 million gallons/day

Revelation 9: 1 ¶ And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit. 2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit. 3 And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power. 4 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree; but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.

A royal curse:

BP plc^[2] is a British global energy company which is the third largest energy company and the fourth largest company in the world. As a multinational oil company ("oil major") BP is the UK's largest corporation, with its headquarters in St James's, City of Westminster, London.^{[3][4][5]} BP America's headquarters is in the One Westlake Park in the Energy Corridor area of Houston, Texas.^[6] The company is among the largest private sector energy corporations in the world, and one of the six "supermajors" (vertically integrated private sector oil exploration, natural gas, and petroleum product marketing companies).^[7] The company is listed on the London Stock Exchange and is a constituent of the FTSE 100 Index. - <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/BP>

BP Amoco changed its name to BP in 2000, and introduced a new corporate slogan: “Beyond Petroleum.” It replaced its “Green Shield” logo with the helios symbol, a green and yellow sunflower pattern similar to the emblem of the Green Party of Canada. These changes were intended to highlight the company’s interest in alternative and environmentally friendly fuels. When, in July 2006, BP admitted, only after journalists became aware of the spill, that it was facing criminal charges for allowing 270,000 gallons of crude oil to spread into the Alaskan tundra, critics pointed to the relative lack of press coverage about the spill as evidence that BP had successfully greenwashed its image while maintaining environmentally unsound practices.^{[86][87]}

In 2008, BP was awarded a satirical prize, the "Emerald Paintbrush" award, by Greenpeace UK. The "Emerald Paintbrush" award was given to BP in order to highlight its alleged greenwashing campaign. Critics point out that while BP advertises its relatively minimal investment in alternative energy sources, the majority of its investments continue to go into fossil fuels.^[88] BP was also one nominee for the 2009 Greenwash Awards.^[89]

Repoussé silver disc of Sol Invictus, Roman, 3rd century, found at Pessinus(British Museum)

Helios is synonymous with: the sun (god), Titan/Hyperion; also identified as Apollo, and in Roman mythology, as Sol, specifically Sol Invictus (invictus means: unconquered).

It has linkages back to Constantine (“with this sign ye shall conquer”) and earlier Mithras cults and has deep symbolic hooks in Roman Catholicism via the visions of “Mary” given at Fatima; and the solar disk of the monstrance or ostensorium of the host in RC Mass.

(Soli Invicto Comiti) and even the equivalent of Sol Invictus (Soli Invicti Aeterno Augusto).⁶⁸ Licinius, Constantine's equal in the eastern half of the empire, also acted in the name of Sol Invictus. After Constantine became sole ruler by defeating him in 324, his coins began to advertise another Sol, the Sun of Justice (Sol Iustitiae). The Sun of Justice was Christ.⁶⁹ The basilica on the Vatican was "Iustitiae sedis," according to an inscription read later in its apse.⁷⁰ It faced east, so that the rays of the rising sun were captured by the atrium and entered through the great doors of the nave.⁷¹ In the fifth century Pope Leo I was aggrieved that "some Christians [still] think that they behave devoutly when, before arriving at the basilica of . . . Peter . . . , they climb the steps which go up to the platform . . . , turn themselves around towards the rising sun, and bow down to honor its shining disk."⁷² The solar orientation of the new basilica evidently was redundant with the symbolism of the obelisk. With the definitive suppression of non-Christian cults in 391, however, this redundancy began to disappear. Eventually, its pagan meaning suppressed and then forgotten, the obelisk was subsumed into St. Peter's expanding chorography. It became the "needle," a familiar but enigmatic feature of the thoroughly Christianized terrain (Fig. 19).

From: St. Peter's in the Vatican - By William Tronzo

Rev 9:7 And the shapes of the locusts were like unto horses prepared unto battle; and on their heads were as it were crowns like gold, and their faces were as the faces of men.

8 And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had breastplates, as it were breastplates of iron; and the sound of their wings was as the sound of chariots of many horses running to battle.

10 And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails: and their power was to hurt men five months.

11 And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon.

Rev 11:18 And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldst destroy them which destroy the earth. {destroy the earth: or, corrupt the earth}

WHY is a British “royal crown” corporation riding roughshod over supposedly “American” petroleum resources?

Micah 6:12 For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

BP chief Tony Hayward sold shares weeks before oil spill

The chief executive of BP sold £1.4 million of his shares in the fuel giant weeks before the Gulf of Mexico oil spill caused its value to collapse.

Goldman Sachs sold $250 million of BP stock before spill

By John Byrne

Wednesday, June 2nd, 2010 -- 10:12 am

Firm's stock sale nearly twice as large as any other institution;
Represented 44 percent of total BP investment

The brokerage firm that's faced the most scrutiny from regulators in the past year over the shorting of mortgage related securities seems to have had good timing when it came to something else: the stock of British oil giant BP.

According to regulatory filings, RawStory.com has found that Goldman Sachs sold 4,680,822 shares of BP in the first quarter of 2010.

Goldman's sales were the largest of any firm during that time. Goldman would have pocketed slightly more than $266 million if their holdings were sold at the average price of BP's stock during the quarter.

If Goldman had sold these shares today, their investment would have lost 36 percent its value, or $96 million. The share sales represented 44 percent of Goldman's holdings -- meaning that Goldman's remaining holdings have still lost tens of millions in value.

Sound vaguely familiar?

Business as usual -- 9/11 and the fall of America

By Jerry Mazza

Online Journal Associate Editor

“Put options were made on the struck airlines, insurance companies and banks pre-and-through-9/11, as if someone had foreknowledge something bad was going to happen to bring down the price of the stocks. A 9-11 Research report on Insider Trading headlines the tale: “Pre-9/11 Put Options on Companies Hurt by Attack Indicates Foreknowledge.””

There were huge surges in the purchase of put options on stocks of the two airlines, specifically United and American, used and abused in the attack. In fact, American and United Airlines, each with two planes that disappeared that day, as early as September 6, were experiencing dramatic spikes in put options on days when their stock prices were stable. Bloomberg News reported put options on the airlines soared to an unbelievable high, 285 times their average.

What's of interest is that in the time preceding 9/11 nobody noticed or bothered to connect dots in this buying/selling trend. It was "business as usual" while some group conducted a huge insider trading strike that ultimately ravaged the airlines financially, damaged America, killed 2,749 people, and proved very profitable to the perps, in the short and long run." -

Halliburton

Energy, industrial, and military support conglomerate, founded by Erle P. Halliburton in 1919.

Acquired Brown & Root (now Kellogg, Brown and Root) in 1962, acquired Dresser Industries in 1998.

Main Entry: hal-

Variant(s): or halo-

Function: combining form

Etymology: French, from Greek, from hals — salt

1 : salt <halophyte>

2 [International Scientific Vocabulary, from halogen] :halogen <halide> Merriam-Webster's Online Dictionary

"Hal"- Hal (Celtic), salt; e.g. Haling, Pwllheli. = "halo" halcyon

A halcyon (pronounced /ˈhælsjən/) is a mythical bird—often identified as a kingfisher—said to breed in a floating nest at sea during the winter solstice, during which time it charms the wind and waves into calm. The term originates from the Greek myth of Alcyone. In popular use, can also mean to harken back to an earlier (usually fond) time.

Salt---sea? Any connection here? Also, "hail"?
hal-, -hale breathe, breath

Halcyon is a short dialogue in which Socrates relates the ancient myth of the Halcyon (a woman transformed into a bird forever searching the seas in lament)---would this be a bird of prey?

Also: Halberd- old English-a long handled axe; an axe for crashing a helmet. (A Dictionary of English Etymology By Hensleigh Wedgwood, John Christopher Atkinson)

And what helmet would that axe be aimed at:

BURTON "fortified town" (Old English). From a surname which was from a place name.

A Typology of the Beast?

Rev 13:1 ¶ And I stood upon the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his horns ten crowns, and upon his heads the name of blasphemy. {name: or, names} 2 And the beast which I saw was like unto a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him his power, and his seat, and great authority. 3 And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast.

Current European Monarchs and Consorts – 10 Royal Houses

http://www.angelfire.com/in3/theodore/royfacts/current_simple.html

The British Crown company, BP, is a major asset of the British crown...the royal "lions" of the House of Windsor. We recall that BP is incorporate WHERE: St. James, Westbury, London.

http://www.lifeinthemix2.co.uk/the_house_of_windsor.html

The British crown is one of ten European royal houses who control, literally, the assets of the world. Symbolically, and in substance, these royal houses ARE aligned to the Vatican, as well. (Note former PM, Tony Blair's "conversion" to Roman Catholicism--- Blair is closely connected America Evangelical, Rick Warren and both are strenuously working together to stage a "unified religious system."

In typology, we can clearly draw the parallels of the beast out of the current world alignment; and directly state that by association the American Gulf oil spill from the Deepwater Horizon Platform represents a “deadly, or gaping, wound” that is global!

Israel Backlash/Whipsaw

Pendulum effect: “polarity...radical shifts in perception and response...increased isolation of Israel...S. Africa “anti-apartheid “ calls...watch CUFI in Wash. D.C. July 21-24, “a basket of summer fruit”...deepening Zionist sentiments and anti-Zionist backlash (possibly stage 1 of the “multitude” prophecy)...ultimately, does Israel go “nuclear?”...Damascus ? Iran? July---dangerous period from 21st July– mid August...”tremulous”
